

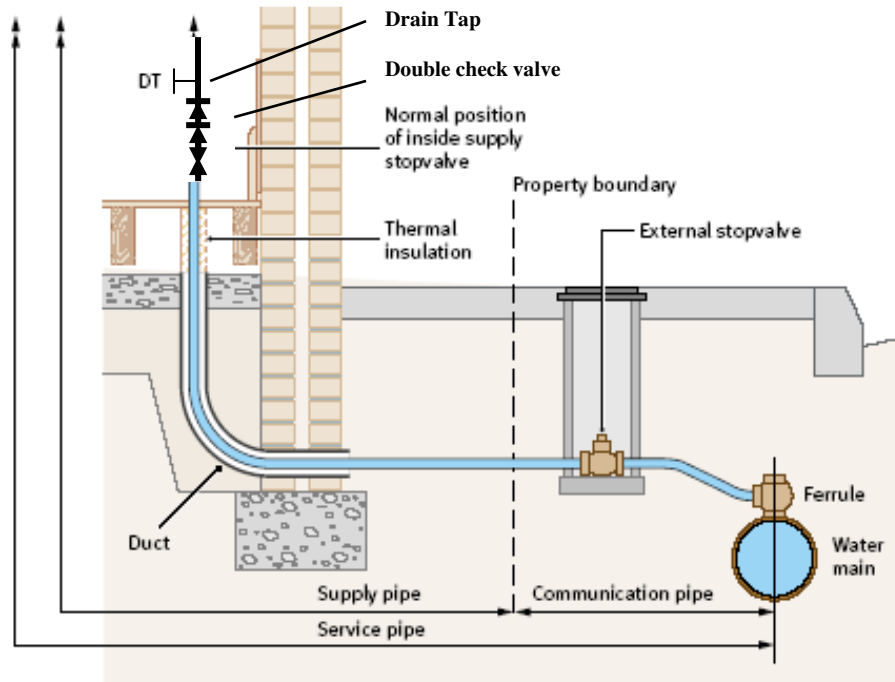

Diagram R10.3:

Typical water service connection showing supply pipe and location of stopvalves

The water authority's is normally responsible for the communication pipe from the main to the boundary of the property.

The customer or owner responsibility is for the supply pipe from the boundary or point of connection with the authority's communication pipe.

Note: in some rural areas this may be some distance from the actual property boundary due to site conditions or location.

TYPICAL ARRANGEMENT AT POINT OF ENTRY